

Hello again!

Really hope you have had a good week and a bit of a break from school @ home!

Today is a special day. It's called Pentecost – any idea what that's about....?

We've been looking at the eye-witness accounts of people who were up close and personal with Jesus as a man. But then came the time for Jesus to go back to be with the Father... What then? Would the disciples be left alone to just figure out what had happened and how to carry on living for Jesus...?!? NO – of course not! Jesus had already promised them the Holy Spirit and today marks the day when He came in POWER!

- Read about what happened in Acts 2:1-18 – pretty cool, hey?!
- Watch Joel's talk with your parents and have a chat about how God 'blew the walls down'!
- Now – here's the really awesome part: the same Holy Spirit lives with and in us as Christians right now – amazing! So –
 - Either talk with some people about their experiences of the God, the Holy Spirit and find out how He has been real in their lives;
 - And / or talks and pray with someone about God, the Holy Spirit in your own life.

As always, we would love to hear your thoughts or questions by email, text or on GeckoLife!

Hope to see you on zoom at some time this week!
